4. My Magic Key to the World

Some people think learning English is only for taking tests. But for me, English is a magical key! I live in Pingtung, and I love using English every single day.

My hometown is very close to Kenting National Park. During the holidays, many tourists from all over the world come to visit. Sometimes, they get lost looking for the beach or the night market. When I see them looking at a map, I take a deep breath, smile, and say, "Excuse me, can I help you?" When I help them find their way, they always say, "Thank you!" and it makes my heart feel so full and happy.

At home, I use English, too. I love watching English cartoons and listening to pop music. When I hear a new word, I write it down in my special notebook. I also love talking to our foreign teacher at school. We talk about our favorite sports and delicious food.

English is not just a subject in a textbook. It is a bridge that connects me to the whole wide world. It helps me make new friends and learn new things. I will keep practicing every day!
